LANGUAGE ARTS TEACHING SCHOLARSHIP

The Psi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi International Honor Society in Education is proud to announce the thirtieth-second awarding of the Ethel R. Taylor – Kappa Delta Pi Language Arts Teaching Scholarship during our initiation program on Sunday, September 30. The award, from the proceeds of Ethel R. Taylor’s generous bequest, will be for $1000.

Ethel R. Taylor – Ethel R. Taylor, a Kindergarten-Primary Education major at Iowa State Teachers College, spent 47 years as an Iowa teacher, including 6 in Cedar Rapids and 32 in Des Moines. She graduated from I.S.T.C in 1934 and also studied at Drake University and the University of California. American Childhood and Instructor magazines have published over 400 teaching activities she created.

In writing to our chapter she stated:

During the summer I wasn’t in school and in retirement I have traveled and had fantastic experience in all parts of the world – most recently with the Friendship Force in Spain, Greece, the Holy Land and the Orient.

After all her teaching, writing and traveling, she concluded, “I feel that teaching is the greatest profession in the world.”

Purpose – The Ethel R.
